

Windsor Castle, the largest inhabited castle in the world, has been the seat of British sovereigns for nine centuries, providing an awesome background for the great Ceremonies of State. The State Apartments, in use on a regular basis and containing many treasures from the Royal Collection, the Exhibition of Master Drawings from the Royal Library, the Exhibition of The Queen's Presents and Royal Carriages in St Alban's Street, and Queen Mary's Dolls' House provide an unrivalled insight into life in England through the centuries, as reflected in the architecture, artefacts and atmosphere of a place associated with the Monarchy for over 900 years. St George's Chapel is the burial place of ten Sovereigns and the shrine of the Order of the Garter, in which its colourful banners and stall plates may be admired.
